FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, June 13, 1870. The investigations of our railroad bond issue are exciting a great deal of attention in New York, and not a little apprehension in quarters not yet known to the public. The efforts of the Tennessee corner in Wall street to keep alive the courage of holders by the declaration of a fictitious value for what will certainly be gudgeons who will ever be found in greater or less numbers floating about in the troubled waters of our monetary constitutions and the prevalence of a cold rain. The results of our monetary constitutions and the prevalence of a cold rain. caught in the meshes of the Wall street pretty much as they found them, conpool. The people of Tennessee cannot be fishermen. They are alive to the importance of a movement by their representatives that has only for its aim their relief from burdens imposed by the Radical party when it was supreme in Tennessee, burdens unjustly, and as we believe, illegaily imposed by a Legislature controlled, as has been shown in the School Fund as has been shown in the School Fund the news from the growing crop aggraand other investigations, entirely in the interest of selfish and unscrupulous poliinterest of selfish and unscrupulous poliinterest of selfish and unscrupulous politicians. These bonds were scattered broad-cast and with a reckless prodigality always a characteristic of those who administer upon the estates of their richer and more opulent neighbors. They were given away, or rather thrown away. No quid pro quo was given. As in the distribution of the School Fund it was only necessary that the parties to share in the low as 20%c in small lots. There are no plunder were of the simon-pure Radical orders on the market, and quotations a stripe to insure them all they desired of the close were nominally as follows the State's promises to pay, over her broad Middlings 20%@21e, Low Middlings 20@ seal, always provided that in the asking 2014c, Good Ordinary 18@1814c, Ordinary there was the show of a purpose on the 153-7616c. part of the donces to build a railroad somewhere within the limits of the State, expressed by us on Saturday. The weath The beneficiaries were never troubled er of last week was so severe as to tel with questions as to the teasibility of or heavily against the extraordinary exer necessity for their projects. They pretions planters were making for a crop tha sented their bills and they passed-alf the might approach in number of bales if no more readily if the party or parties bein pounds that of 1861. To this end they longed to the ring which, in East Tenneshad pressed everything they could com see, run the State machine. Is it not too mand of labor and money. Memphis in much, under these circumstances, to ask surance companies, banks and merchant our people to pay these bonds? Is there had been drained almost dry, and credi any good reason why we may not repudiin every department was strained to ate them as an indebtedness made withhelp-in the development of the planters out our consent, by usurping agents of desire for a big crop of cotton. That the the people and therefore fraudulently? If result will tally with their expectancy i it can be shown, as we think it can, that doubtful. If it does not many of then even the paltry conditions of their issuthink so. Where it can be shown, as in the case of the Mineral Home and the Southwestern railroads, that these bonds have not been averaged. may have to learn the lesson that all cot have not been expended as our internal and who pays from $5 to $7 per barrel fo improvement law commands, or that they it, cannot make money, especially when were issued and expended for the personal he has to pay a heavy bonus and high aggrandisement of the leaders in these soprices for labor which is uncertain and called railroad corporations and not in the difficult to control. The planter mus construction of railroad lines, we think there is sufficient grounds and justification for their repudiation. This is a hard word to use. We dislike the alternative as much as the term—but to this com-white labor of the West and New England plexion have we come at last. It were as at $1 50 a day, to raise his grain and meat sound logic to argue that a merchant forage, horses and mules, and ship then should pay the fraudulent drafts of his agent as that the people should be made to pay the fraudulently issued bonds of the must do as they do or he will be ruthed. He must produce what he control of the must produce whether the must produce their agents. These bonds must be repusumes and sell only the surplus.

Schenek's bill for the reduction of taxation promises relief in many respects but does not approach the standard of freetrade which the Democratic party may yet be enabled to enforce, and which it is be the policy of the government. Wherever it is possible to make discrimination in favor of the North and Northern man ufacturers, Schenck has secured it; and ble to injuriously affect the interests of the South, true to his party and personal record, he has done it. So conscious were the Democratic members of Congress that this was the object and purport of the bill they voted against it in solid phalanx presenting a protest that in time will tell favorably for the Democratic party. The London Tistes, in utter ignorance of American party politics, cratic party, and says that in consequence and because of the possibility that the Democratic party may any day come into power, such confidence as may have been entertained in the safety of United States obligations must also be greatly weakened. Under these circumstances, says the "Thunderer," the assumption seems warranted that the rate of importation of European goods must forthwith be dismissed or that gold [or its equivalent, cotton) must be sent to pay so far as they are taken in excess. For the present the latter result seems to be considered the most probable.

The Fonding Bill and the act for the extension of National Bank capital, both drag their slow length along. Both are opposed by existing corporations, the first ecause it may, as it passes the Senate, force all National Banks to deposit the proposed 4 per et. instead of the 6 per et. gold bonds now deposited by them as guarantee for circulation. The latter is apposed because it suits the New England int wests to monopolize and control the curre, cy, and realize from the people a two-fold tribute-first, in the interest on bonds dep. wired, amounting in the total
